What is The Spinal Cord Society?

The Spinal Cord Society is a large, grass-roots organization linked by 200 chapters, a monthly newsletter and thousands of members throughout North America and 24 other countries.

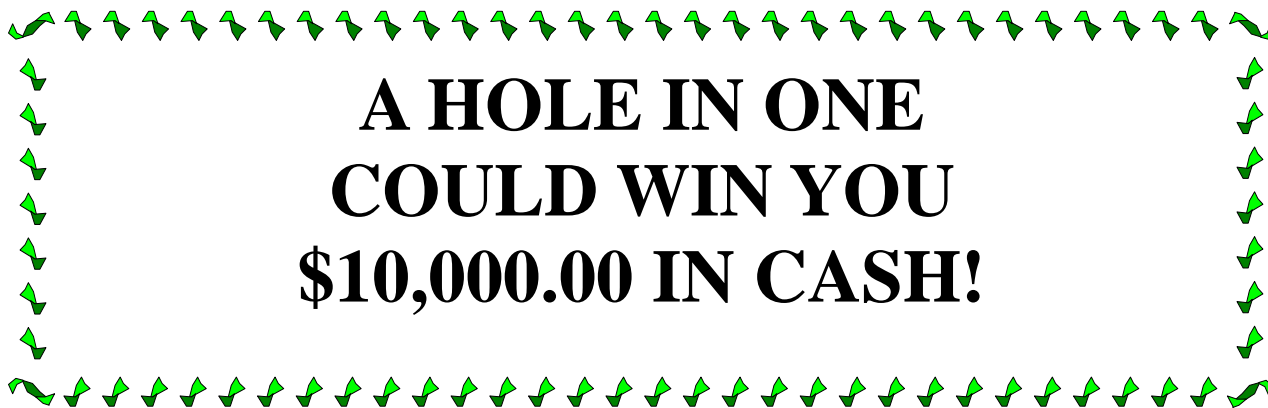

It's goal is to cure paralysis. It is an organization of spinal injured, their families, friends, and together with dedicated scientists and physicians, is aiming at the ultimate goal of cure through improved treatment and care.

Twin Cities Chapter Mission

Bringing together the spinal cord injured and other interested parties who are determined to find a cure for spinal injuries and are willing to participate in that effort.

NOT Endless Research

Thanks to our many supporters world wide, SCS has been able to remain independent and goal-focused in its research efforts. SCS has never doubted for a second that the job of chronic cure can be done. Our hopes have more than been confirmed. In our lab early in 2008 our researchers achieved regeneration in the chronic rat injury but NOT refuction using a combination therapy. Later that year, they discovered the missing "link" in that combination which RESULTED IN A 30% REFUNCTION in a similar trial. Our researchers repeated these experiments and in January 2009 called in outside independent scientific experts to confirm their findings. The exciting news we all hoped for was confirmed and we were advised to proceed forward. Currently, 5 scientific papers are being submitted to journals for verification and hopefully publication. Once published, these experts felt this work warranted human trials in the very near future.
